As we entered high school, we were lost in the shuffle of making new decisions. We began the individual process of making our mark within the school and community. Academically we displayed a tremendous effort, making future plans for higher education. Social activities and sports took the place of the recess and playground activities of our younger years. Many students participated in community services like C.H.O.R.E.S., showing a willingness to help others. Now that we have proven ourselves at Bridgewater- Raynham, we set out confidently to make our mark on the world.

Making Our Mark

During our younger years, our lives were carefree. We spent our time involved in scouting activities, pool parties, birthday parties, and slumber parties. We enjoyed fun times at the beach and just hanging around at the playground with our friends after school. Back then we did not have to worry about homework, cars, or dating. And then we graduated from 8th grade. It was time to assume adult responsibilities and prepare to make our mark on the world.

1. After their trolley ride, Scott Lewis, Matt Hudson, Brett Albert, Brian Barboza, Jason Rabouin, Jay McGrath, Keith Lane, and Guy Thomase prepare to graduate from 8th grade.

Younger Years

We made our marks on each other's hearts as we shared holidays, parties, proms and life's everyday ups and downs. Over the past four years, we have grown closer, shared dreams, and given each other advice. Students from two separate towns came together and made lasting friendships. A unique trust blossomed between special friends. The faith our friends had in us helped us realize the potential we had to make our own marks on the world.

B-R has been a major stepping stone on the continual path of learning. Each day we learn new and exciting things. We gain our knowledge not only through books, but also through hands-on experience. Learning with teachers and friends has been educational, as well as fun. Only through dedication and long hours of effort did we finish our art projects, type our papers, solve difficult math and science problems, and write our English themes. We will carry with us the knowledge that we have acquired at B-R as we make our mark on the world.

Usually when we think of special moments, we think of proms and semiformals. On these occasions, we dress up in our best clothes. The boys are handsome; the girls are beautiful. But special moments are not just about proms and semiformals. They are the times we share with friends. We go on vacations, celebrate holidays, and spend quiet times together. These special moments make a permanent mark on our hearts.

The reputation of Bridgewater-Raynham has always been one of graciousness in victory and defeat. We compete not only against our rivals but also with our teammates in order to perfect our athletic skills. Whether we win or lose we as a team encouraged each other. Athletics is not just an after school activity .It has become a part of what we are and helped us to develop self-discipline and appreciate the value of hard work. Although we may all choose different paths, we will never forget our sojourn at BR. Our sportsmanship has left a mark on the school, and another etched in our hearts.

Activities

Activities help define students and allow them to find others who share their interests. Students who love music can play an instrument in the band, sing in the chorus or school musical or perform in the Color Guard and Dance Squad. Creative students can express themselves by acting in drama class productions, working on the Unitas or writing for the school newspaper. Those students who want to explore the world can join the FLC and learn about other cultures; the World Affairs club allows students to gain knowledge about politics and world events. Through school activities, students make their mark on school and community by expressing their originality, creativity and social concern.

DEDICATION

If there is one teacher at Bridgewater-Raynham worthy of recognition by the Senior Class of 1996, it is Miss Kathleen O'Toole. As the picture below indicates, Miss O'Toole has been educating and caring for students for over twenty years. Her giving spirit and warm smile have encouraged those of us who have taken her classes in Shorthand, Typing, or Word Processing. Those of us who have been in her homeroom, or known her from hall monitor duty appreciate her kindness and sense of humor. We, the Senior Class of 1996 dedicate our edition of the Unitas to Miss Kathleen O'Toole, and wish her well in her retirement.

Ms. Kathleen O'Toole

Ms. Cheryl Farrington

Over the past four years we have spent at B-R, many teachers have affected our lives and touched our hearts. One very special woman, Ms. Cheryl Farrington, stands out as truly one of the best. As our class advisor for three years, she got to know each of us individually and became someone we could call a friend. Whether it was helping our class organize our Junior Prom or plan a fund raiser, Ms. Farrington encouraged everyone to get involved and have fun with class activities. It is with great pride and admiration that the class of 1996 dedicates this year's Unitas to Ms. Cheryl Farrington.

Ms. Tormey

Ms. Gregoire

Retiring from education this year are Ms. Joan Gregoire, Instructional Media department head, and Ms. Elizabeth Tormey, Compensatory Services Counselor.

Ms. Tormey plans to add June and September to her beach days, travel, continue with free lance counseling and expand her business, Educational Services, Inc.

Ms. Gregoire will enjoy more time on her island in Maine and will finally be able to work on the many quilting and craft projects that she has been collecting

We wish both educators good luck, good health, and much happiness in their retirement.

The B-R family will miss our custodian, Mr. David Cabana who passed away suddenly on March 8, 1996. His cheerful greeting and willingness to help made our days a little brighter.

ADMINISTRATION

FACULTY

At B-R, faculty and staff work very hard at teaching and supporting students. Whenever a student needs to talk to someone, a faculty member is always ready to listen and to help.Teachers are always willing to spend time on extra help whenever a student needs it.

Teachers are not only teachers; they are friends. They are people who students can lean on, joke with, and turn to for advice. Teachers prepare students for the future by sharing their wisdom. They help seniors by writing recommendations, and proof-reading college essays. They give advice and support about life choices. We thank them for their time, energy, and caring.

Class of 1996

When we came into B-R as freshmen, we were immature and lost. By our sophomore year the school was familiar to us and we had more confidence in ourselves because we were no longer the youngest. By junior year we saw that we had only one year left and we began to prepare for the future.As seniors we leave B-R ready to make our mark on the world.

The Class of 1996...

From the moment we entered B-R in the fall of 1992, we knew our high school years would be memorable. From the Foreign Language Club's trips to the Caribbean and Canada to track meets and fund-raisers, the memories of the activities and world events that occurred over the past four years will stay with us forever.

Many students and teachers participated in Donkeyball, a variation of basketball with the players riding donkeys. The pancake breakfast gave everyone the chance to get together with friends, and raise money for our class.

Athletics have been an enormous part of our high-school experience. Whether as an athlete ora fan, everyone got involved. The annual pep rally brought everyone together to scream and cheer our football team on.

Each fall, B-R gets ready for the annual semi-formal. Everyone crowds into the gym for a night of dancing. For the first time, this year there was a Spring Semi-formal. We will also remember both the Junior and Senior proms which will always hold a special place in our hearts.

The Blizzard of '96 caught everyone by surprise. The snowfall left school closed for days, and caused delays throughout the community. Roofs caved in because of the weight of the snow, and people couldn't shovel fast enough to keep up with it. It was a record-breaking winter.

The Oklahoma City bombing was one of the most tragic events

...our four years together

to happen during our years at B-R. The incomprehensible act took the lives of 169 men, women, and children and disheartened the American people. We could only watch in disbelief as a community was torn apart by hate and destruction, and can only hope this type of terrorism never occurs again.

The trial no one will forget, and the verdict no one will stop discussing, is that of O.J. Simpson. The entire country watched as Simpson's white Bronco sped down a Los Angles freeway. Once O.J. Simpson was accused of the slaying of Nicole Brown Simpson and Ronald Goldman, every aspect of our lives was encompassed by legal experts, DNA, and racial bias.

The trial lasted for months, but ended one afternoon that many of us won't forget. Some members of the senior class watched the Simpson verdict on TV in Mr. Kearney's class. When the not guilty verdict was announced there were cheers of excitement and tears of disbelief. For many of us, the trial changed the way we view the people around us, and the way we view ourselves.

The class of 1996 remembers the good and bad times we've shared with teachers and friends. As graduation approaches, we look forward to new experiences, and the opportunity to make our mark on the world.

U S First Competition

Beginning this year, there is a new team at B-R: the U.S. First team. In a continuation of the Engineering Awareness Program, in collaboration with Johnson & Johnson, 40 students were given the unique opportunity to design and build a robot. At the beginning of the year, U.S. First members attended numerous pre-competition education sessions in such areas as electronics, robotics, design, machining, SLA prototyping, and CAD. These sessions were necessary for students to form a background of essential skills needed to build the robot. As of February 10, students have been working day and night to complete each aspect of our robot, TJ². The object of this year's competition, to be held on March 28-30, 1996, is to score as many goals as possible using small and large balls in a hexagonal goal. An additional aspect of this year's competition is the use of a human player. Selections have already been made for the human players and the drivers, and the robot is almost ready to go. Other members of the team have also worked hard to produce a video and a 30 second 3-D animated clip. The entire competition has been a valuable and enriching experience, and will be even better in years to come.

Tracking Technology

Technology at Bridgewater-Raynham has taken flight in the last four years. The beginning of 1994-1995 brought new IBM PC's to the Word Processing classes, followed this year by the introduction of a student Macintosh lab in the IMC. This lab, run by Dr. Chuckran and Mrs. Blakely, also included access to the highly publicized World Wide Web at speeds of 56 kilobytes per second. Access to this equipment has been beneficial to all students in their education, primarily by seniors when they researched their term papers through a global reference system. Predictions for individual student computers will still be some years off, and the school will probably be using ditto machines for a few more years, but the promise of new technology has already begun to affect the lives of every student at Bridgewater-Raynham.

You must have been a beautiful baby!

Remember when we took that first baby step, said that first word and made that first crayon mark? When we were younger, our lives were carefree, filled with memorable times such as birthday parties, sleepovers at friends' houses, trips to the park, and Little League games. Now as we move on to the next stage in our lives, let us reflect on our childhood memories and the great times we had. As we mature and grow, let us never forget the child inside of us.

Science Olympiad

Five years ago, science teachers Liz Calef and David Chuckran established the Science Olympiad team to get students interested in science. The team is currently in first place in the South Eastern Massachusetts Science League and has overcome many tough teams such as Medfield and Medway en route to capturing the title. This year the team boasts a record-high 39 members. Tri-Captains Paul DiBenedetto, John Micozzi, and Carli Sousa have led the team to victory and have set an example for other team members. Participation among underclassmen has also increased dramatically over the past few years. If interest continues to grow, B-R will continue to be a dominant force in Science Olympiad competition.

Peer Leadership

Peer Leadership is a group of students who share a desire to help the younger children in our area. Peer Leadership went to the Burnell School and LaLiberte Junior High School to speak with students about peer pressure and other issues that affect them. The main goal of Peer Leaders is to plan activities that provide a relaxed environment for students to ask questions.

Peer Leadership also organizes many activities to aid the community. During the Christmas Season, Peer Leadership sponsored the Giving Tree. Peer Leaders collected money from students and teachers to help the less fortunate. Over $500 was raised to buy Christmas presents for a needy family in the community.

Publications

During the school year, B-R students work on many different publications. Some develop projects in the Journalism class; some in the Creative Writing class; and some work during their free periods and after school.

Even before the school year starts, students work with faculty, parents, and administration to produce a Parents Newsletter that is mailed home with the student's new schedule.

Because this year announcements over the intercom were kept to a mininum, the new weekly school calendar became a vital source of information on the current sports, activities, and happenings around B-R. In addition, students are learning to produce a monthly school calendar.

To support the Drama Club and the Musical, publications, students design the programs for these events.

Future projects include the production of a Literary Magazine, the revival of the Regional Sound, and the inclusion of digital images using the new electronic camera.

Many students also work on independent creations as the inspiration and opportunities arise during the year.

Yearbook

Producing a yearbook for students is no small task. The members of the 1996 UNITAS have volunteered their time and talents to help produce a book filled with life-long memories.

Students fit pictures into page layouts, type text and captions, edit senior blurbs, and track down students for picture identification to produce a yearbook that is the pride of Bridgewater-Raynham.

These students have sacrificed free periods and time after school to ensure that deadlines are met and that pages are correctly laid out. Students work hard to sell the yearbooks and advertisements to defray the expense of yearbook production. In addition, with the absence of morning announcements, students had the added burden of advertising the yearbook to promote sales.

The UNITAS' mission is to provide all students with positive memories of high school, and to teach publishing skills to its members and staff.

1. Under the pressure of a deadline Kristy Cronin and Eric Lee write text.
2. Proofing final printouts, Patrick Hutchinson prepares to send pages to the printer.
